Product description:

FENZI G10 STORAGE TANK WITH GRILLE 1100LT

The FENZI G10 Storage Tank with Grille, 1100 liters, is perfect for safely containing and storing contaminating liquids. Built from adequately thick carbon steel, it is available with either an external paint or zinc coating to ensure resistance and durability over time. The zinc-coated grating provides a safe and non-slip surface.

The dimensions are optimized for the best cost/practicality ratio. The FENZI G10 Storage Tank has a reduced height of 350 mm, making access to stored liquids easier while still maintaining a capacity of 1100 liters.

Usage

The FENZI Storage Tank is extremely versatile and suitable for multiple uses. Besides being commonly used for storing new oil drums, it is also useful for cleaning components contaminated by polluting liquids. This versatility makes it indispensable in industrial environments where safe fluid management is crucial.

Accessories and Specifications of the FENZI G10 Tank:

Upon request, various accessories are available to optimize the use of the FENZI G10 Storage Tank, including supports for drums and ramps to facilitate access with manual carts. The standard dimensions include a width of 1400 mm and a depth of 1400 mm, optimized to fit various work environments without compromising practicality. Optional accessories like drum supports and ramps further enhance its usability in diverse work environments, maintaining practicality without compromise.

The FENZI G10 Tank is essential for the industrial sector, ideal for both storing new oil and safely cleaning contaminated components, ensuring a work environment compliant with current regulations. The FENZI G10 Storage Tank with Grille is the ideal option for those needing a robust, safe, and versatile product for various industrial and commercial applications. Its high-quality construction, along with compliance with current regulations, guarantees reliable and durable performance.
